It's good to know that my tax dollars are being used in a productive manner. I guess you have to take time away from destroying the environment, working on those contracts with Haliburton (what did Cheney do there?), ignoring the fact that most of those associated with 9/11 were from Saudi Arabia. Knowing what is really going on makes me happy as I have already started the countdown to November when Georgie is shown the door and can go back to Texas and fall off his bike.
